

Charlie

Charlie aged 11 has a keen interest in elite sports cars. He loves to discuss cars and has a good knowledge of them.

He also loves football and other sporting activities. Charlie has some additional learning needs and comes across as younger than his years.

Charlie has experienced a traumatic childhood and can find it very difficult in social situations. He currently has a diagnosis of borderline Autism and this will be reassessed in 2019.

Charlie sometimes finds it difficult to regulate his behaviour, but, with support, he is learning to recognise this. It takes him a long time to develop trust with adults but once he has built a relationship he can be very loving.

Charlie has found the transition to secondary school difficult. This, combined with the fact that he is entering his teenage years with all the physical and hormonal changes related to this, has made for a confusing time.

He would benefit from living long term with a family who have experience of working with teenagers with challenging behaviour. An understanding of working with children with Autism would also be of benefit. Ideally Charlie would be the only child in the family in order that he can receive one to one attention.
